Plan Mass Trial for War Criminals

Former Victorian Named to Command Pacific Air Force

OTTAWA (CP)—Air Vice-Marshal C. Roy Slemmon, 40, of Winnipeg, former deputy chief of staff of the R.C.A.F. overseas, has been appointed commander of Canada's Pacific air force. He succeeds Air Vice-Marshal C. M. (Black Mike) McEwen, forced to relinquish his command when his medical category was reduced.

AIR VICE-MARSHAL SLEMMON

The announcement was made by Air Marshal Robert Leckie, Chief of the Air Staff, at a press conference at which Vice-Marshal McEwen, former chief of the R.C.A.F. Overseas Bomber Group, said he was "very, very disappointed" at losing his command, but was "quite resigned to my fate now because I know health means an awful lot for an operational commander."

The retiring commander, who learned of the results of a medical examination as he was flying to Canada this week to start organization of his new command, had the tough job of building and operating an anti-U-boat force from Newfoundland and later the big 6th Bomber Group in Britain.

'M.O.' CAUGHT UP

He had no time for relaxation during the last four years and "my health just got run down and the medical officer caught up with me."

Now he would have to take a complete rest and he didn't know what his future plans would be. He would first have to talk to his "C.O." in Montreal—Mrs. McEwen.

As for his successor, Vice-Marshal Slemmon, he said that officer had served under him at the bomber group and "I would like to assure you that he is absolutely a first class fellow."

In announcing the new commander, Marshal Leckie said he would like first to express his deep personal regret that his "old comrade in arms" would not be able to continue in the command.

Vice-Marshal McEwen said that 164 of the big Lancasters of his group that included 15,000 men, had either arrived or were on their way to Canada. He would not comment on questions that they were destined for service in the Pacific.

NAME PERPETUATED

He announced the R.A.F. had granted the R.C.A.F. the honor of keeping the 6th Bomber Group in perpetuity and that number would for ever be left blank in R.A.F. battle orders.

Marshal Leckie did say the Pacific force might not be a group formation.

Vice-Marshal McEwen said one of the unsung tasks of the 6th Group had been to drop mines in the Skagerrak—separating Norway from Denmark—to prevent the Germans moving much-needed divisions to the sagging Western Front during the crucial period of the war last winter.

A reporter asked the vice-marshal if he had ever gone on operational missions with one of the big Lancasters which brought him across the Atlantic Thursday. He thought for a minute and another reporter broke in: "Give him a break—you're asking him a tough question in front of the boss."

Superfort Armada Blasts Japan Naval Arsenal; 5 Plane Plants

GUAM (AP)—Four hundred and fifty Superforts today attacked Japan's last naval arsenal and five big aircraft factories with 3,000 tons of demolition bombs.

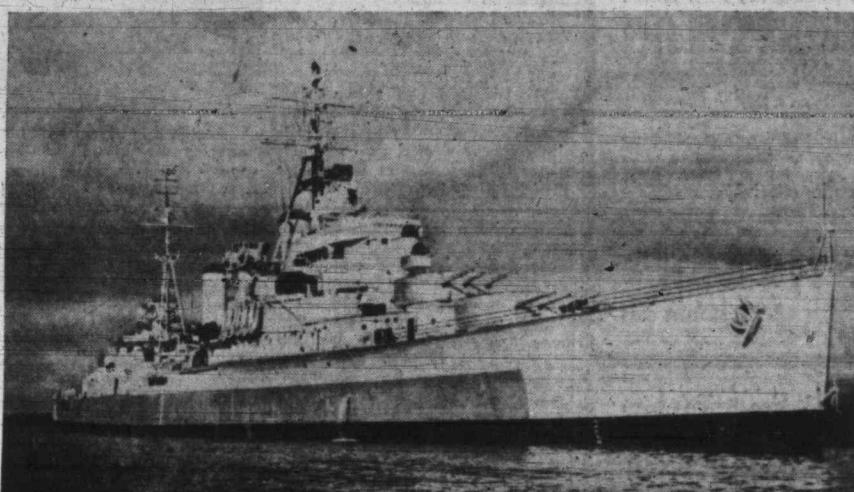

Seven other small industrial targets had been fire-raided Monday and Wednesday.

Japan's two largest arsenals, Osaka and Hiro, previously were virtually destroyed. The Kure plant, blasted today, manufactured guns up to 16 inches, projectiles, fuses, propellants and torpedoes. It covered approximately 11,000,000 square feet.

The other five targets were the Mitsubishi and Kawasaki aircraft plants at Kagamigahara, 20 miles north of Nagoya; the Kawasaki aircraft plant at Himeji; and the Kawasaki aircraft plant at Akashi, both in the Kobe area, and the Mitsubishi-Mishima aircraft factory at Tamashima, 90 miles west of Kobe. A Japanese communiqué claimed 26 bombers were shot down.

WIDE AREA GONE

Superforts already have destroyed or damaged 112 square miles of Japanese urban-industrial areas. Recent B-29 attacks on seven smaller industrial cities—all made with incendiary bombs—earlier this week—damaged more than nine square miles of war factory areas.

New 6-Inch Cruiser Ontario to Lead Canada's 60-Ship Fleet Against Japan

CAPT. H. T. GRANT, D.S.O., of Halifax.

Canada's second cruiser, H.M.C.S. Ontario, launched at Belfast as H.M.S. Minotaur 18 months ago, will be named flagship of the 60-warship fleet which Canada is sending to the Pacific to make war on the Japanese.

The British Admiralty offered the Ontario to the Dominion along with H.M.S. Uganda, struck by a glider bomb at Salerno, then being refitted in the United States. Canada accepted both ships, but at the request of the people of Uganda, refrained from changing the Uganda's name. She is now in the Pacific under command of Capt. Rollo Mainguy, O.B.E., of Duncan, B.C., and has already been in action against Japanese bases. Both Ontario and Uganda were built in the Belfast yards of Harland and Wolff.

Ontario carries a complement of 900 officers and men. She is 11,000 tons gross and 555 feet long. Her main armament consists of three triple-turret six-inch guns, two forward and one aft. She also carries 10 four-inch; four four-barrelled pom-poms and her decks bristle with minor armament such as 20-millimetre orlikon. In addition she is armed with torpedo tubes and depth charges.

Her engineering is complete with latest electrical gadgets and her superstructure is a mass of gunnery director equipment and other concealed weapons.

Ontario, while the second cruiser to be commissioned for the Canadian navy in this war, is the fifth such ship to serve for the R.C.N. Prior to this war, Nobe, Rainbow and Aurora served with R.C.N., but all three have long ago been sold for scrap.

Ontario is the third warship to carry this name. The other two were built in 1736 and 1812, respectively, and were ships of the Royal Navy. One of them was a brigantine sloop of 384 tons, which mounted 18 guns and served with the West Indies squadron.

Premier King Hopes To Seek Election In Ottawa Riding

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister King hopes to run for re-election to the Commons in one of the Ottawa district seats now held by Liberals, rather than in a riding far from the capital, it was learned today.

It was reported Mr. King had said he wished to run in an Ottawa district riding when L. O. Breithaupt, elected Liberal member for the Ontario constituency of Waterloo North, offered to resign and pave the way for the Prime Minister's re-election.

When Mr. King's defeat in the Saskatchewan constituency of Prince Albert became known, Mr. Breithaupt telegraphed the Prime Minister, urging him to stand for re-election in Waterloo North, the riding which first sent him to the Commons in 1908.

Mr. Breithaupt called on Mr. King Thursday and renewed his offer, but was told that Ottawa district seat, and not one far from the capital, was wanted.

Mr. King told a press conference Tuesday that the matter of his re-election would be discussed by the cabinet during his absence at the San Francisco World Security Conference wind-up this week-end. He would be guided by the advice of the cabinet.

U.S. Prosecutor Hopes Hearings May Start Soon

LONDON (CP)—Justice Robert H. Jackson announced today a United States plan to prosecute Germany's arch war criminals in one collective trial and expressed hope that it might start "before the end of the summer."

Justice Jackson, the chief U.S. prosecutor, emphasized at a press conference that he could not speak for the three other major western powers, but said no objection to the proposal had yet been lodged by Britain, Russia or France.

The Foreign Office announced that representatives of Britain, U.S., France and Russia would open discussions in London early next week to draw up a list of the major criminals and settle plans for their trial.

Justice Jackson elaborated on information of the collective trial plan obtained earlier in the day from a responsible U.S. source.

4 Major Powers To Be Represented

The U.S. plan envisions trial by a military tribunal with each of the four major powers represented by "one or two judges," Justice Jackson said. As now drafted, it carries no provision for representation by the smaller powers.

At the outset of the press conference, he emphasized that "no man will be given immunity because he has held a high military position if there is evidence to prove that he is a war criminal."

In the first exposition of plans for the trial of war criminals given to newspapermen here, the Supreme Court justice said the trials would start "at the earliest possible moment—just as soon as we have a reasonably complete case."

The British Foreign Office commentator said the purpose of the four-power discussion would

New Arctic Waterway of Great Potentiality Reported By Larsen

OTTAWA (CP)—A broad northern waterway, Viscount Melville Sound, whose summer waters have been ruffled only once by a ship that crossed it, may be an Arctic highway of the future. Sub-Inspector H. A. Larsen of Victoria, (1090 Victoria Avenue), commander of the R.C.M.P. patrol schooner St. Roch, wrote in a government blue book issued today that the schooner was the first vessel to complete the entire Northwest Passage both from west to east and from east to west and was the only vessel to cross Viscount Melville Sound.

The Viscount Melville Sound route, far north of that followed by most previous searchers for the North-west Passage, was used by the St. Roch last year in the epic crossing of the Arctic from the Atlantic to the Pacific in one season.

Sub-Inspector Larsen wrote: "Of the two routes taken, the northern one, used during our last trip, is the most important and the one which should be used for any future enterprise among the Arctic islands, or in yearly negotiations of the North-west Passage for any purpose that might occur."

"The land is high and easily

SUB-INSP. H. A. LARSEN

recognized along the route, and the water is deep close to shore. The hazard of ice and navigation in general is no greater for a through passage than the passage eastward along the Alaskan coast and westward return in early summer and fall."

The Northwest Passage by this route was made last year, although the season was not good as far as ice and weather conditions were concerned.

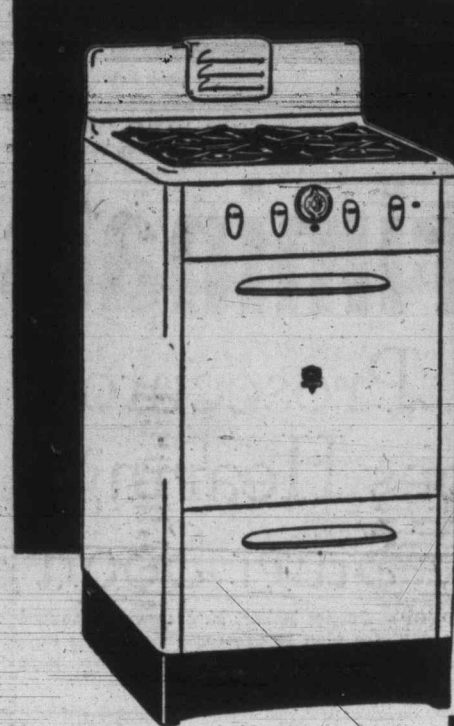

Craftsman William Seward, R.C.E.M.E., who returned to Victoria on V.E. Day after five years overseas service, holds his young daughter, Sally Joyce, who arrived from England with her mother, second from left. They will reside with Craftsman Seward's aunt, Mrs. P.-W. Plimley, Cordova Bay, and cousin, Tommy, also in the picture.

Mrs. G. C. Duncan, with her daughter Maureen, arrived in Victoria two months ago from England, and was at the boat to welcome her husband, Cpl. Duncan of the Loyal Edmonton 49th Regiment. They will live with his mother, Mrs. A. B. Duncan, right, of 1157 McClure Street. Cpl. Duncan has been overseas five years.

Five years overseas service with action in the Mediterranean and in western Europe were behind Pte. Henry Behnken, R.C.A.S.C., as he was greeted by his brother, Shaw Behnken, left, and his mother, Mrs. S. Behnken. Also down to welcome him were his friend, Joe Bayley, and his son, Chris Behnken.

Balloons Spotted Over Western City

A WESTERN CANADIAN CITY (CP)—Two balloons, believed to be of Japanese origin, floated over this centre Thursday, attracting the attention of many citizens who rushed into the streets to see them.

It was estimated they were 15,000 feet in the air, but with the aid of field glasses, the outline of the balloons could be clearly discerned. Naked-eye watchers saw merely a pin-point of white in a clear western sky. Planes took off from an R.C.A.F. station and patrolled around the balloons, but took no destructive action before they drifted out of sight. Bomb-laden Japanese balloons have come down in several western districts in recent months, but there have been no reports of casualties or serious property damage.

NOT FROM ABROAD

SEATTLE (AP)—Shiny bits of tinfoil which have rained down recently in large quantities over parts of King County are harmless and are part of army training work, an army spokesman said Thursday. The army is anxious to dispel rumors that the tinfoil is from Japanese balloons.

WAS JUST PLANET

SUPERIOR, Wis. (AP)—Reports of a grey globe hovering ominously over this city Thursday brought all security forces to the ready and sent hundreds of persons into the streets to see the "Japanese balloon."

Then Prof. E. H. Schrieber, head of the science department at the Superior State Teachers' College, reported he had fixed the school's telescope on the cause of the disturbance.

"There is no immediate danger," he said, "since the planet Venus, now a morning star, is at present approximately 30,000,000 miles from town."

Vancouver Soldier Sentenced to Death For Girl's Murder

VANCOUVER (CP)—William J. Hainen, 30-year-old Vancouver soldier, was convicted by an assize court jury Thursday night of murdering Olga Hawryluk, 23, waitress, here last May 2 and sentenced by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane to be hanged Sept. 20. The jury deliberated two hours and 51 minutes.

In returning the verdict the foreman said: "We find accused guilty of murder, with a recommendation of mercy."

Hainen paled slightly, but otherwise was unmoved. When asked if he wished to speak, he said: "I have nothing to say."

The verdict brought to a close the three-day trial which was climaxed Wednesday by Hainen's own testimony that he had only a "hazy" recollection of events preceding the murder.

He told the court he had a fight with a mysterious civilian on a grassy boulevard the night of the murder, after which he remembered nothing until arrested by police.

The body of Miss Hawryluk was found in the suit at English Bay early May 2 by Mrs. Sam Robinson and her daughter, Hazel, of Calgary, who told police they had been awakened by a woman's screams. The dead woman's face and body were badly bruised. Two blood-stained pieces of driftwood were found by police and submitted as evidence at the trial. Hainen testified he had seen the pieces of wood for the first time in court.

Mr. Justice Macfarlane, in his charge to the jury which was delayed three hours when the jury requested a typewritten transcript of Hainen's evidence, said "Drunkness isn't a complete defence."

"The effect of drunkenness is to decrease the crime, if you find so, to manslaughter. It doesn't authorize you to render an acquittal."

Evidence disclosed that Hainen had been drinking alcoholic beverages almost continuously for two days before the crime and in company with other persons made the rounds to several beer parlors and cafes the night preceding the murder.

Tugs Save Tanker In Gulf of Georgia

VANCOUVER (CP)—A battle to save a sinking ship and eight men in heavy seas off Point Grey ended Thursday afternoon when the Vancouver tanker Shellco was towed into Snug Cove, Bowen Island.

The tanker, owned by the Shell Oil Company of B.C., had jettisoned her oil cargo in a desperate attempt to stay on the surface and was awash and full of water except for cargo tanks.

None of the tanker's crew of eight suffered injury aboard the rolling craft. Working in the choppy seas, tugs finally managed to get lines aboard the sinking ship. Pumps were put on the Shellco and they gradually checked the flow of water into her hold. She was then towed into Snug Cove.

Attempt Gas Theft

Following up a report from J. Huddlin, 2535 Bridge Street, of two men attempting to steal gasoline from vehicles at the coal yard of Kirk Coal Co. Ltd., 1239 Broad Street, city police found Mr. Huddlin had given chase to the men, who had run away at his approach.

A search was made of the district without results, and a hose and gallon jar used by the would-be thieves was taken to the police station.

New Queen Class Liner Probably Will Be Built, States Commodore

NEW YORK (CP)—Britain's entry for the postwar blue ribbon of the Atlantic probably will be a third giant liner of the Queen class, Commodore Sir James Bisset said here Thursday as he told anew the graphic wartime saga of his 81,235-ton Queen Mary, here on her first visit to the United States since the war ended in Europe.

Emphasizing he was expressing only his personal opinion, the bluff captain of the Queen Mary painted to a press conference aboard the ship an optimistic picture of the future of the steamship in a postwar world in which the airplane may play a predominant part. And he made it clear Britain intends to fight hard to maintain her leadership on the seas.

Forty-eight years a sailor, the 62-year-old Commodore of the Cunard White Star fleet, knighted in the King's birthday honors June 14 for his service with the merchant navy in the war at sea, dismissed suggestions that the airplane will seize command of the trans-Atlantic passenger trade. He declared: "Ninety per cent of travelers will prefer to go by ship, just because it is a ship."

The Shawigan Beach Hotel is now open for the season. Phone Cobble Hill 48, or Victoria office, 718 West Street, G 4834.

Ward One, Saanich Ratepayers, will meet in C.C.F. Hall, Richmond Road, June 22, at 8 p.m. for the purpose of discussing the inadequate water supply, and other business.

MARY STILL GOOD
The Queen Mary herself will play an important part in the Atlantic run, the commodore said as he noted that her engines, despite the pounding of five years of gruelling war service at continuous high speed, are in perfect condition. He put at six months the time required for reconverting the vessel from a troopship to a luxury liner. "She was a good ship in the beginning," he said.

The smiling captain said: 1. Not a soldier died at sea as the Queen Mary carried some

Cabinet Clean-up Expected in Spain

GEN. FRANCO

MADRID (AP)—Some Spaniards are expecting Generalissimo Francisco Franco to effect a long-promised cabinet reshuffle and administrative changes—and possibly take other action—to meet the San Francisco United Nations' Conference announcement that any government created with Axis aid would be excluded from any world organization.

All Spain knows the United Nations' Conference meant the Spanish regime and it is generally agreed where men meet to talk that something must be done, and quickly. If Spain is to become a member of the world security organization.

V.D. Rate Tripled

High Production Key to Employment

A high level of productive employment is the means whereby national living standards may be raised and full employment continued, declared W. C. Mainwaring, general sales manager and vice-president, B.C. Electric Railway Co., Vancouver, addressing the Victoria Rotary Club Thursday at the Empress.

"The postwar period is here now," he said, "and government and industry must co-operate to avoid any breakdown in present employment levels. The transition from war to civilian production must be done quickly."

The speaker attributed ignorance of the employment possibilities in Canada, which he viewed optimistically, as accountable for fear expressed regarding full postwar employment.

"We must think positively, not negatively if we are to progress," he maintained.

He pointed out production potentialities relevant to new scientific and industrial finds brought about by the war indicating tremendous possibilities now open to civilian manufacture and use as a major step in the employment program. In conjunction with this he stressed need of continued enlarged exploitation and care of natural resources, expanded air transportation, furtherance of foreign markets.

Big business will not carry the brunt of the transition period. Businesses employing less than 100 persons account for almost 50 per cent of total employment, and only through their co-operation will present levels of employment and production, he continued, be said.

"There is no excuse on this continent for unemployment," he said.

Mr. Mainwaring, introduced by Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, was thanked by vice-president Colin T. Martin.

Merritt House-Hunts

OTTAWA (CP)—Lt. Col. C. C. Merritt, who won the V.C. at Dieppe, spent three years in German prison camps and now is Progressive Conservative M.P. elect for Vancouver-Burrard, is running into difficulties with Ottawa's tight housing situation.

Col. Merritt, who came to Ottawa with Mrs. Merritt to seek a house or an apartment for the forthcoming parliamentary session, said jokingly in an interview that "if I have to leave my family in Vancouver and come down alone for the session I might as well have stayed in Germany."

He visited Bracken House, headquarters of the Progressive Conservative Party, and also saw Dr. Arthur Beauchamp, clerk of the House of Commons.

Tax Reductions
At Fall Session?

OTTAWA (CP)—Forecasts of tax reductions in general terms made some time ago by Finance Minister Isley are expected to find practical application in the budget at the coming session of Parliament, it was learned here.

The reductions will be framed with a view to affording relief to recipients of low incomes from the personal income tax load and encouraging business activity through easing taxes on goods consumption and those which tend to discourage investment and risk-taking.

In the personal income tax field it is possible the new budget may provide for removal of the basic tax which applies to the entire income and which is seven per cent for married persons having incomes of more than $1,200 and ranges up to nine per cent on single persons' incomes in excess of $660 a year.

MONTREAL (CP)—Alfred de Marigny, who has been residing in Canada since last March following his acquittal two years ago in Nassau, Bahamas, on a charge of murder of Sir Harry Oakes, his father-in-law, has volunteered to serve in the Pacific theatre and will report for induction at nearby Longueuil next Monday, military authorities said here.

LONDON—Services departments, in consultation with the Ministry of Agriculture, are considering a scheme to enable soldiers, sailors and airmen who acquired animal pets abroad to bring them back to Britain.

What Russia Wants—A Security Line

By HERMAN R. ALLEN

Behind every Russian manoeuvre on the European continent can be seen one driving force. A determination that never again will Russia have to fight a war on her own soil, never again battle an invader in the Pripyet Marshes.

Everywhere east of a "security line" dictated by geography Russia obviously is determined that there must be governments friendly to her.

This line starts with the western border of Finland, continues down the Baltic shore to the mouth of the Oder river, follows the Oder southward to the Neisse river and continues southward along the Neisse valley to the Czech border.

If then loops around the mountains which form the western Czech border and drops south through Linz, Austria, and continues to Trieste, Italian port on the Adriatic. From there it follows the Adriatic coast and the Aegean coast of the Dardanelles, entrance to the Black Sea. It would necessarily continue down the eastern shore of the Aegean for some distance to secure the Dardanelles completely.

FRIENDLY GOVERNMENTS

Already governments friendly to Russia have been established in Finland, Rumania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Austria and Czechoslovakia. Moscow has insisted repeatedly it must have a friendly regime in Poland, Greece is a question mark.

Turkey, guardian of the Dardanelles, probably will be called on soon to readjust her relations with Russia as the dominant power in its part of the world. Russia will have a new western boundary when the peace conferences are over, but not in all cases is it pegged to the security line.

In the far north, the Russians have claimed the Petsamo area from Finland to secure that area from enemy landings. Border adjustments arising from the 1940 Finnish-Russian war give Russia a chunk out of eastern Finland and all of the isthmus west of Lake Ladoga. Russia also has obtained a leasehold on the Hango peninsula, commanding the approaches to the Gulf of Finland. The security line itself, however, is the western border of Finland.

The Baltic states, Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, have already been incorporated into Russia. In addition, indications are that the Soviets are taking part of East Prussia, including the port of Königsberg.

South and west of Königsberg, the Russians apparently intend to let other nations carry the ball as far as the security line goes.

POLISH CLAIM

Some Polish leaders have put in a claim—and nobody has objected—for a western Polish border on the Oder-Neisse line. This would be in compensation for the territory assumed by Russia as far west as the famed Curzon Line.

Legless Ontario V.C.
Receives Decoration
In Palace Ceremony

LONDON (CP)—Canada's 10th Victoria Cross winner, Maj. Fred A. Tilston, Essex Scottish Regiment of Windsor, Ont., was wheeled before the King today at Buckingham Palace to receive the Empire's highest award which he won in the Hochwald action last March.

The fourth of five empire servicemen to receive the coveted awards at today's ceremony, Maj. Tilston, 39, had his wheelchair pushed by one of the King's own pages while the Lord Chamberlain read the citation for the award.

The King leaned forward to pin the medal on the major's tunic and asked him if he was getting better. He then shook him warmly by the hand.

Later, Maj. Tilston said the investiture went "very well."

A pharmacist in peacetime, Maj. Tilston lost both legs by amputation after an action in which he continued to lead his company through devastating fire after being hit three times.

BULLET IN HEART

He had been wounded twice previously. The first time he survived removal of a bullet from his heart when he was accidentally shot while training in England. Last October he recovered from wounds suffered when his jeep was blown up by a mine near Falaise, France.

With Maj. Tilston was Lt. Col. Kenneth MacIntyre, the present commanding officer of the Essex Scottish, who was with the V.C. winner during the bitter Hochwald fighting and who followed the major before the King to receive the Distinguished Service Cross for the action, fought February 19.

The probable western Polish border coincides with the Russian security line, and so does the western border of restored Czechoslovakia. The Polish-Czech sector of the Russian security line covers the Moravian Gateway, historic route into central Europe.

The Austrian sector includes the Vienna Gateway.

Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia has put in a strong claim for the Italian district of Venezia Giulia, which includes the port of Trieste. There is opinion in Washington, D.C., that he may get all except Trieste itself.

South of the head of the Adriatic, the coastal mountains of Yugoslavia form the security line. These mountains sweep inland in such a way that it probably would not be essential for Russia to have Albania in its pocket.

The approaches to the Dardanelles, however, are another story. Russia long has insisted it needs a warm-water exit to the western world. It has suggested the Dardanelles might be internationalized.

Canada Sending Delegation To London for World Peace Group

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—As a member of the 14-nation executive committee, Canada will send representatives to London this summer to prepare for the coming into force of the world peace organization, the charter of which will be completed here Tuesday.

Preparatory plans will be in the hands of the same executive committee which has directed the affairs of the United Nations' Security Conference here. It is composed of the Big Five and nine smaller powers and is responsible to the steering committee, which has representatives from all 50 United Nations.

The steering committee now becomes the preparatory committee, which will meet briefly next Wednesday to organize and instruct the executive committee.

These next steps in developing the world organization were revealed by State Secretary Stettinius late Thursday at a press conference after the steering and executive committees had completed plans for winding up the conference.

These plans involve a number of commission meetings, a plenary conference session to give formal approval, a signing ceremony expected to start Monday afternoon and end Tuesday morning, and a series of speeches Tuesday afternoon, climaxed by the closing address of President Truman.

Canada is not among the 10 countries asked to put up speakers at the closing ceremony Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Stettinius said London was chosen for the meeting-place of the preparatory committee because no international conferences have yet been held in the British Isles.

Today the hard-worked coordinating committee was engaged in the task of removing errors and smoothing out the phrases in the completed charter of the new world organization and it is expected commission sessions will be held Saturday and Sunday to give final approval before the plenary session of the conference for the formality of approval.

Stars and Stripes in Paris, in an imaginary letter from a dead soldier, takes Gen. Patton to task for telling a group of children they will be the soldiers of the next war.

Gen. Eisenhower has added his voice to those who are advocating peace-time military training in the United States.

Russia, expected to announce relaxation of wartime living restrictions, at the same time accelerates military training and says, "the war in Europe is over but the military and political schooling and the training of fighting reserves does not cease for a moment."

"It's no fun to die," says the Stars and Stripes letter. "It's particularly no fun when the general you followed turns right around to your homefolks a few weeks later and tell them you died in vain. . . Leave the peace to those who are working their hearts out to make it stick. Leave them alone—for a little while, anyway. And for God's sake stay out of my little brother's Sunday school class. He still thinks I died to make a better world for him."

Well, the soldier didn't die in vain, and the generals are not intending to say he did.

At San Francisco, for the first time in history, all of the world's great powers, all its dominant forces, are arrayed for peace. The flaws in the United Nations' charter are prominent. To some they are disheartening. But it still represents the greatest step yet taken toward universal security. It does provide machinery by which the nations can have peace if they will to do so.

ECONOMICS AND PEACE

OTHER PEOPLES AS WELL AS OUR neighbors have watched the action of Congress toward two measures whose intent is directly related to the American contribution to the charter now about to emerge from the United Nations Conference on International Organization at San Francisco. One is the bill to renew the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act—which expired on June 12—and the other is the Bretton Woods Agreement. Both have a distinct bearing on the future economic peace of the world, without which, of course, the proceedings in the city by the Golden Gate would lose much of their meaning and effectiveness.

After its approval by the House of Representatives the Trade Agreements Act ran up against bitter opponents in the finance committee of the Senate—who proceeded to cut the heart out of it by a single vote. Senator Robert Taft of Ohio took the traditional Republican stand that further reduction in the American tariff would endanger American industry by admitting, in competition with its products, cheap foreign goods produced by low-paid labor. The administration's answer to this contention was emphatic—that any disadvantage on this score would be more than offset by increased American production to supply the export market trade. Its argument naturally found support in the nation's peace-time experience between 1934 and 1939. Mr. Cordell Hull sponsored this legislation in 1934. In that period American exports to countries with which the United States had negotiated agreements under the original Act had increased twice as much as sales to countries with which no agreements existed. But Senator Taft and those who agreed with him won their point.

In view of that decision it was feared the administration would have some difficulty in winning approval for the President's demand for permission to reduce tariffs up to 50 per cent, taking the rates in operation as at Jan. 1, 1945, as the new basis. However, the final Senate vote, taken on Tuesday of this week, not only reversed its own finance committee's formal act; Mr. Truman's full tariff program obtained endorsement. It should be noted, incidentally, that the law in operation up to June 12 permitted reductions up to 50 per cent from the rates that prevailed in the Hawley-Smoot (Republican) Tariff Act of 1930—the highest fiscal barrier ever erected by the United States. Had the oppositionists had their way, therefore, the President's bargaining power in respect of new agreements, or in the case of renewals, would have remained the same as before, taking no account of economic changes occasioned by the war.

The other measure to which we have referred—the Bretton Woods Agreement—is much more technical, not so subject to snap-phrases criticism, but is a phase of our neighbor's economic co-operation program apparently going well. This complicated bill came out of the House banking committee with sweeping non-partisan approval. Only three Republican members opposed it. Their efforts to cripple the program found their own party leaders on the committee and in the House voting them down on the 345 to 15 bi-partisan tally by which the bill was passed. This is generally taken as an augury for Senate approval when the measure comes before that chamber.

In all this legislative procedure in the United States Congress, Canada and the rest of the United Nations are vitally concerned, partly because the free exchange of goods between nation and nation must become a more and more important factor for peace in the postwar years, and partly because the world security program now nearing completion in San Francisco depends immeasurably for its success upon practical progress toward international economic sanity.

SEE THE ISLAND

BECAUSE SO MUCH AVAILABLE transportation will be required to carry servicemen from the European battlefronts to their homes or to new fields of operation, civilians who had planned vacation trips may be disappointed when they seek train accommodation. Certainly they will be discouraged by officialdom, which is endeavoring to curb unnecessary travel during the period when transport facilities are required for the troops. Civilians can find few grounds for complaint on this score.

Nevertheless, many will be annoyed and distressed by their inability to go where they wish under comfortable transportation conditions. The situation will, however, be less serious for Victorians than for any others. Residents here still have "an island of enchantment" to explore within distances that should not increase the national transportation problem to any great extent. They will face the usual difficulties of securing reservations at resorts, but the benefits of planning from a base at home for operations in limited territory will be apparent to all.

Life is easier for a man. He needn't buy a new suit for a club dinner because friends have seen him wear the old one twice.

ONLY THE SYMBOL GONE

THE TINY IMITATION PINK ROSES which for years symbolized receipt of a donation to the L.O.E.'s Alexandra Rose Day fund will be missing when the annual tag day to aid child and family welfare work is held by the Order tomorrow. War conditions have prevented the manufacture of the small emblems by little inmates of the Children's Crippleage at Haileybury, Sussex, England. But the need for the help which those donations provide still continues. In recognition of that need and as evidence of the citizens' desire to help, the omission of the rose should be compensated by the satisfaction donors receive from generous support of the cause.

BELGIUM'S PROBLEMS

AT THIS DISTANCE IT IS DIFFICULT to determine to what extent the Belgian crisis arises from the conflict of personalities, as suggested by a recent Reuters dispatch, and how much it is influenced by trends. It appears quite definite, however, that Socialist elements are completely opposed to the return of Leopold III, while the Catholic Party is strong in its determination that the monarch who capitulated in May, 1940, should reassume his "constitutional powers."

At the centre of the controversy stands a man of tragedy to whom the present developments must be bringing a cup of bitterness which might well have overflowed from the misfortunes he has experienced in the last 11 years. He has many political enemies, but few of them could honestly challenge his loyalty to his country as he sees it. Much of the stream of invective has dried up since the fateful day a little over five years ago when he yielded to the overpowering drive of the Nazi legions. Explanations of his action, notably by Sir Roger Keyes, have removed the sting from the charges hurled at him when, as commander of the Belgian army, he withdrew from the war. It is only fair to assume that his course was dictated by the desire to protect his people from further slaughter. Whether or not he chose the right way is open to question, as is his decision against joining the Belgian government in exile.

There is much that could have embittered the young man who succeeded a father whose reign had made him one of the most popular monarchs in Europe. Personal tragedy has run a continuous thread through the path of his life. As a boy of 13 he learned the harsh realism of war as a private in the Belgian army. Before he was 33, as the crown prince, apparently enjoying the happiness of a successful marriage, he was called to the throne by the violent death of his father in a mountain-climbing accident in February, 1934. His star continued its evil ascendancy with the motor crash which claimed the life of his devoted wife, the former Princess Astrid of Sweden, in August, 1935. Less than five years later the fight he considered hopeless against the Germans ended in Belgian defeat.

Now the forces of liberation have freed the little country and the men who fought on are returning to claim the leadership in Belgium they maintained in exile. It is natural that Leopold should be blamed for the course he pursued and which succeeding events have proved to have been a mistaken one. But the issue is one for settlement by the Belgians. He was their king, and it is up to them to decide whether or not they wish his return, the establishment of a monarchical successor or a republican form of government. There is wisdom as well as expediency in Britain's disposition to remain neutral in the conflict.

SPANISH HARVEST

THERE IS AN ELEMENT OF GRIM humor in reports from Madrid that Generalissimo Francisco Franco is expected to reshuffle his cabinet shortly and make administrative changes—"to meet the San Francisco United Nations Conference announcement that any government created with Axis aid would be excluded from any world organization."

The humorous element arises from the suggestion that a dictator can change his status simply by revamping the set-up of his stooges. Franco still is the authoritarian ruler of Spain. During the critical period of the war in Europe he had to be humored for strategic purposes.

Peoples of the United Nations remember how Franco joyfully received the fascist forces and allowed them to try out their military equipment in his own civil war. And so long as the fortunes in the greater conflict seemed to favor Germany and Italy, there was no doubt over the direction to which his sympathies leaned. Nor can recent inclinations by the Spanish dictator toward a more friendly attitude to the United Nations win him the affections of the latter's peoples. Franco sowed an unfortunate political crop and no Alice-in-Wonderland transformation should alter the harvest he reaps.

THEY FADE AWAY

THE HAMILTON REPORT OF THE fourth annual convention of the National Hoboes of the World Association carries its own commentary. There were not enough hoboes assembled to hold the regular meetings, so King Hobo Jeff Davis and seven satellites read letters from widely scattered brethren and dispersed.

If the assumption is correct that hoboes are hoboes because they don't like steady work, it would appear that avoiding work has become too much work for those who would be hoboes and they have taken jobs. And if experts at not working have taken that course, is full employment as difficult of realization as some suggest?

Let any of the more serious should take exception to any flippancies above, we are not unmindful of the tragedy of those young fellows who were riding the rods a few years ago.

Blind Optimism

By ALLAN WATSON
(Condensed from Saturday Night)

FROM MY WATCHTOWER in the Southern California hills, and from various trips to Los Angeles, I have recently been observing the reactions to world events of those with whom I come into contact. But I don't get anywhere for the Americans with whom I come into contact won't talk. They won't think. Apparently they prefer to accept unquestionably the present prosperity, without digging for its causes, and refuse to question its continuance. . . . The brokers and club loungers prefer to talk about golf and the Dow Theory rather than about national collapses once removed.

I have found a greater willingness to talk war, and to question prosperity, among the so-called lower classes. . . . They do not share, despite their present affluence, that sense of security which the American middle-class possesses to such an extraordinary and unwarranted degree. So they question.

BUT IT IS NOT these people that I write. Despite John L. Lewis, these are not the people who form American public opinion. This is rather an all-embracing statement, and I do not mean that the Union Club members form American public opinion either, but what I am getting to is that a feeling of complete confidence in America's ability to ride out the storms of reconversion to peace exists today, and that feeling exists by virtue of the security-owning group, rather than the wage-earners. . . .

Since April, 1942, nothing much has happened to cause moneyed Americans to lose sleep. Particularly in the world of Wall Street sound sleep has been prevalent since then, as the little pitfalls of worry about the varying fortunes of the war were never enough to offset the joy of the insular American investor in the fact that the market was going up.

Three years of this sort of thing has led to the present pass—when V-E Day—the very thought of which caused the pitfalls referred to in 1943 and 1944—passed like just any other Monday, with the action of the market determined by "individual situations," rather than by any realization of the fact that the cost-plus party is beginning to break up. A state of optimism, in short, has been built up, of its own weight.

ONCE AGAIN the "it can't happen here" psychology rules American thought. People have lulled themselves into a nirvana of belief in the inevitability of prosperity after the war "at least for four or five years," as dozens of financial district denizens have expressed it to me.

"Cut backs"—an easier word to swallow than "cancellations"—are now widely believed to be nothing to worry about. Some of the super-optimists even grieve over the belief that they are to be only 15 per cent, and that reconversion to the production of needed civilian goods will be accordingly delayed. "Technological unemployment" is a bogey which nobody seems to believe in any more. The existence of a $250,000,000,000 national debt is an interesting phenomenon and nothing more. Ten years ago bankers in the United States were reviling the late President because that debt had increased, under his administration, from $16,000,000,000 to $32,000,000,000. It was, they said, an insupportable load for the country to carry. Is a $250,000,000,000 national debt more supportable?

These questionings apply to Canada as well as to the United States. And to the United Kingdom, too. In raising them I am not suggesting that we are headed towards ruin. My whole point is, however, that facile confidence in prosperity to come is not enough. Grim determination to work and sacrifice our way through is what is needed.

HE DOES NOT realize it because thinking—real down-to-earth thinking—about the possibility of major collapses and internal revolutions in Europe and the effect of these things on the American economy, is simply not indulged in. You are considered a horrible wet blanket if you express serious thoughts and doubts.

The light touch is what is wanted. And the light touch is what we get. The light touch of light thinkers.

Take for instance, the San Francisco Conference. It is a fortunate thing that so many of the delegates cannot read English and consequently (I hope their interpreters are not too diligent and all-embracing in translating news items) will go home unaware that their activities have been reduced to the comic-strip level by such characters as Elsa Maxwell, Walter Winchell and Earl Wilson (he of the "is it pronounced vodka or wawka, Mr. Molotov?").

The American press has been criticized, by its own reputable sections, for this freak coverage. But the American press knew what it was doing. It knew that its readers would not be interested in serious study of the discussions. So it sent along its "key-hole reporters," its "saloon editors" and its "human interest feature writers" to jazz the thing up and make it "news." The press, in short, or large sections of it, put the Conference in the same class as the Los Angeles Olympiad and the Dayton "monkey" trial.

AND SO, IN THIS vital matter of gauging, and planning for, the nation's future—in particular, the future of American business—the average American is stumbling along the road of blind optimism, refusing to see that the much-talked-about "backlog of savings" is just the salvage from the national debt. Refusing to believe that a thoroughly ruined Europe means anything to him other than something to help rebuild at a fat profit. Refusing to think about inflation, deflation, Bretton Woods, the need for tariff changes, technological unemployment, and the impossibility of lowering taxes. Refusing, in short, to think.

More Power to 'The Voice'

By J. H. GRAY

FOR THE LAST 18 MONTHS the bobby-sox brigade has taken an awful beating from the rest of us for its adulation of Frankie Sinatra. For ourselves, we herewith publicly confess our error and bow in homage to the bobby-soxers. We were wrong. They were right. They had Frankie pegged out right from the beginning. Sinatra is more than another crooner; he is more than the butt for jokes of rival actors. He is a young man with sound instincts who is using his tremendous popularity with young people to wage a one-man campaign for the abolition of race and religious prejudice.

During the last United States election, Frank Sinatra took the stump for President Roosevelt. Instead of going back to making his fortune, once the election was over, he has continued his speech-making. What is more, he is making his way to audiences which are receptive to the young people of the United States.

SINATRA WAS BORN and grew up in Hoboken, where a poor little son of Italian immigrants had to learn quickly to fight or be pushed around. He learned to fight. He learned, too, the cruelty of racial and religious hatred, the sting of epithets like "wop" and "guinea." As he grew up and got into show business he discovered that racial and religious intolerance was one of the serious problems of American democracy. As a thorough-going democrat, Sinatra took a hand in the solution of the problem.

Sometimes the fiery Sinatra temper has led to direct action. The Sinatra fists have bloodied

Activity on Borneo Recalls Odd History

ABOUT 470 MILES of the coastline of North Borneo invaded by Australian forces is taken up by the State of Sarawak, an independent state under British protection.

The rule of the Brooke family over Sarawak originated in 1839 when James Brooke visited the Rajah of Sarawak on a mission from the Governor of Singapore. At that time the Sultan of Brunei ruled over all northwest Borneo, and had appointed his nephew to restore order in Sarawak, where considerable unrest existed. The Rajah of Sarawak asked James Brooke to assist him. In 1841, finding that Brooke needed greater authority for his assistance to be effective, he offered him the post of Rajah. The new Rajah of Sarawak was recognized the following year.

DURING NEXT TWO YEARS the Royal Navy assisted Rajah Brooke in clearing the coast of Malay and other pirates. Rajah Brooke retired to England in 1863 and his nephew, Charles Johnston, who took the name of Brooke, succeeded him as Rajah. In 1864 Britain recognized Sarawak as an independent state and in 1888 made an agreement with Rajah Brooke by which Sarawak came under British protection. Britain was given authority to control foreign relations and to determine any disputes as to succession, but was not to interfere in internal administration. At the time of the Japanese invasion Sir Charles Vyner Brooke was the Rajah, having succeeded his father in 1917.

IN 1941 Rajah Brooke declared his intention of establishing a constitution, but the final form had not been settled by the time Sarawak was occupied by the Japanese. The country was divided into five administrative divisions with headquarters at Kuching. There was a supreme council composed of two senior European officials in the state service, and five leading Malays. The state civil service consisted of both European and Malay administrative officials.

The population was estimated in 1937 at 442,900, and composed of Malays, Sea Dyaks, Land Dyaks, Kayans, Kenyahs, Melanos and about 100,000 Chinese. There were about 390 Europeans as well as some British Indians, Japanese and Javanese. The capital and largest town is Kuching, with a population of about 25,000.

OIL WAS DISCOVERED in 1909, and production was under the control of the Sarawak Oilfields Limited, which, in 1937, produced 209,894 tons. A considerable quantity was also imported from Brunel for refinery. About 230,000 acres were under rubber, of which some 10,000 acres were European-owned, the remainder being in the hands of small holders, of whom many were Chinese.

noses of racists who insulted negroes and Jews. More often, however, it has been the well-known Sinatra voice which has been put into play. Because untold thousands of young people will stage three-alarm riots to hear "The Voice" burst into popular song, Sinatra got the idea that some attention might be paid to it if it was spoken loudly. So, in recent months, he has been making speeches to high school student leaders, carrying the gospel of tolerance and racial amity to those who can be converted—the youth of America.

YOUNG MR. SINATRA is a Roman Catholic. He carries a St. Christopher's medal in his pocket. But it is a curious medal for on the reverse side he has engraved on it a Star of David. This is Sinatra's own symbol of the work he is doing. He carries a supply of these medals with him, distributes them to his Roman Catholic friends whom he converts to his crusade for tolerance.

Somehow, we find this story of the growth of Frank Sinatra from crooner to crusader one of the most heartening of the times. He might have gone on making vast sums of money and paid no attention to the evils around him. That would have been the easy way, and according to many it would have been the wise way. The public does not like being preached to by people it hires as entertainers. When it buys entertainment it wants entertainment. This, at least, has been the excuse which the entertainment world has made for its celebrities. Young Mr. Sinatra, at the height of his career, has chosen to break with tradition, and our guess is that in the end great good will accrue to the cause of tolerance by his decision.

SO, WITH DEEP humility, we retract all our wisecracks. Young Mr. Sinatra has a new fan. We're for Sinatra now, and we're for him for good. What endears this little guy to us is not so much the speeches he is making. No; it is the fact that racial prejudice makes him mad, makes him so mad that his fists fly. Somehow, it seems to us, if more people got fighting mad at racists, instead of accepting racial prejudice as a necessary evil, we would be closer to the achievement of a decent and tolerant world.

THINK Before They Arrive!

Baby's teeth we mean. Give them thought before they appear — even before baby arrives. Good teeth start with the mother's diet... and in babyhood, childhood, even adolescence, calcium, phosphorus and vitamin D are needed to build and maintain sound teeth.

Carnation Milk with its extra vitamin D, is a splendid source of these building materials. It's a wholesome, nourishing milk for all ages. Write for free book "Your Contented Baby". Carnation Co. Limited, Vancouver.

Dunn-Krieger Nuptials Held in Vancouver

A pretty wedding took place on the evening of June 9 in Canadian Legion Hall, Vancouver, when Irene, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Krieger of Vancouver, became the bride of John Wilson Coventry, Dunn, Cache Creek, B.C., elder son of Mr. and Mrs. W. The bride, wearing a grey gardenia suit with green accessories and a corsage bouquet of sweet peas and roses, was given away by her father. She was attended by Mrs. Florence Cocking, her sister, as matron of honor, who wore a purple ensemble, and Miss Freda Gash, frocked in brown with yellow accessories. J. Gash was best man and L. 2,000 Ditty Bags Needed for Navy

Although the fighting in Europe is terminated, naval authorities point out that there still remains important service to be performed by Allied merchant ships, particularly in far Eastern waters, and for this reason the Navy League of Canada is again appealing for large quantities of ditty bags, the quota for the Vancouver Island division being 2,000.

There are still thousands of Canadian naval ratings and merchant seamen on duty both on the Atlantic and the Pacific, and it is inconceivable that any of these sailors at sea or at some isolated place should be forgotten when Christmas comes. Many of the small articles which generally are contained in ditty bags are still unobtainable in Europe and other countries. No ditty bags are given to sailors on shore duty.

It is urged that ladies' auxiliaries, institutes and individuals will contribute to this appeal. Empty ditty bags are now available at the Navy League office, Prince Robert House. They may be filled during the summer and returned early next fall.

Dorothy Dix

GRANNY FOR BOY MATE

Dear Miss Dix: Just what is the matter with society these days that it cannot recognize the changes that are taking place and realize that women are now privileged to take mates many years younger than themselves, just as old men have been doing for ages past? I know of several instances where young boys have married old women and seemed quite happy. If a boy's mind is fully developed at 14, what difference does it make if he marries a woman of 60 as long as there is compatibility between the two? It is time you took your old fogey ideas out for an airing and mixed awhile with the kiddies. Maybe they could modernize you. JUST GRANDMA.

NATURE TOO STRONG

Answer: Well, grandma, what you call society is the consensus of the wisdom and experience of all the ages, and it has found that the marriage of an old woman to a boy never brings happiness to either one of them. It is against nature, and there is no arguing with that relentless force.

You can't modernize nature or streamline our desires and tastes. You can't make an old woman young and beautiful or agile. You can't take the stiffness out of her joints or the wrinkles out of her face or the gray out of her hair, no matter how much you lift her face or dye her locks. The best that the highest priced beauty shop can turn out is a synthetic understudy of youth that fools nobody except the made-over woman herself. Nor by any magic can you put fire in her knees nor make her any boy's heart's desire. The young husband of an old woman is always hers by right of purchase alone.

If you have known any boy husbands of old ladies who seemed happy, you have seen more than I have. All that I have observed have had a handgrip look and appeared to be regretting their bargain. But, grandma, if you are thinking of buying a youthful spouse,atta girl, and good luck to you!

Saturday Tag to Aid Needy Families

Saturday is Alexandra Rose Day when the I.O.D.E. will appeal to the citizens of Victoria for funds so the child and family welfare work of the order may be carried on.

For many years the tiny rose tokens sold on the streets on Alexandra Rose Day were made by the little inmates of the Children's Crippleage at Haileybury, Sussex, Eng., but owing to war conditions the tiny roses will be missing this year. However, the raising of funds to carry on the care of underprivileged children must go on.

Mrs. A. H. C. Phipps, municipal regent, I.O.D.E., is in charge of arrangements for the tag day, assisted by municipal officers and the regents of the primary and junior chapters. Headquarters are at 202 Union Building.

Money raised from Alexandra Rose Day is divided into child and family welfare work, providing milk and hospitalization for undernourished children, the care of veterans and their families, providing layettes for needy mothers and aiding Queen Alexandra Soli. m. In addition to the cot which the I.O.D.E. already maintains, a share of the proceeds always goes to the Children's Crippleage in England.

Entertain Children—June meeting of the Anne Wilson Missionary Society of the First United Church took the form of a children's party at the home of Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, Beach Drive. Mrs. J. W. Stephen presided, and Miss I. Renwick spoke. Mrs. Charles Goodwin sang, accompanied by Mrs. George Riach. During the afternoon a presentation was made by Mrs. A. H. Cox to Miss Pearl Willows, who is leaving to reside in Vancouver after three years as deaconess at First United Church. Tea was served by the hostess, and pictures were taken of members, friends and children.

Early Settler Dies At Jubilee Hospital

Victoria lost another of its fast dwindling group of early pioneers when Mrs. Elizabeth Crimp passed away at the Royal Jubilee Hospital on June 20, after a short illness.

The late Mrs. Crimp, who was 90 years of age, was born at Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan. With her mother, Mrs. Fred Carne, and brother Fred Jr., she travelled across the Isthmus of Panama and up the Pacific coast, when she was 10 years old, arriving in Victoria on Christmas Eve, 1864, to meet her father, who had been working in the Cariboo country. The family settled here. Mr. Carne conducting one of Victoria's earliest grocery stores. At first they lived on lower Fort Street, but later moved to the pioneer Angela Hotel, situated opposite the Court House on Langley Street, where Elizabeth Carne met her husband, James Limestone Crimp, who predeceased her in 1916, and from where she was married.

Mrs. Crimp has been actively associated for many years with the Jubilee Hospital Women's Auxiliary, the Alpha Group and the Women's Missionary Society of Metropolitan United Church. By PETE SALLAWAY

AN INDICATION of just how hockey is going to boom in the United States when conditions return to normal is seen by recent activity on the Pacific Coast and in the midwestern and southwestern areas. The Coast League came up with plans to enlarge its membership to eight or nine clubs while word is out of the organization of a new professional league with franchises in Dallas, Fort Worth, Omaha, Tulsa, Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Paul. This is just the beginning. Before the outbreak of war hockey was really establishing a foothold in all sections of the U.S. but with so many players going into the armed forces any plans for development of new circuits had to be postponed. Then there is talk of the National Hockey League moving into another couple of major cities in the United States while a new pro or semi-pro circuit on the Canadian prairies has been mooted.

IT IS NICE to hear about these new leagues but the big question right now is: Where are the players coming from to supply these new clubs? Last season good hockey players were as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth and at the present time there is no indication the situation will ease up any great amount come fall. Several of the N.H.L. clubs had trouble keeping their rosters up to strength while senior hockey in Canada operated in only a few scattered points. No doubt there will be a limited number of players coming out of the services but the supply will not be sufficient to meet the demand. With all evidence pointing to a great hockey boom in Britain when peace is finally achieved it looks as if Canada is going to have to produce hockey players as never before. I wouldn't be surprised if some action is finally taken to protect the interests of Canada's national sport from raiding by teams and leagues in other countries. After all, Canada is the proving ground of hockeyists and deserves some consideration regardless of the fact that pastures may be proven much greener from a financial viewpoint—south of the border and across the Atlantic.

MAYBE IT'S the major league influence, with the teams in the bushes trying to emulate their big brothers. At any rate the minor pro-ball leagues are having pennant races every bit as unpredictable as those of the majors. With two or three exceptions the leading contenders are closer than nip and tuck. Portland is doing its best to make it no contest in the Coast League, at the time of writing, being four and a half games on top of the Seattle Rainiers.

BUT IN the other minor loops—International, American Association, Southern Association, Eastern, Pony, Interstate and Piedmont League—the leaders are so close together you can't slip a piece of tissue paper between them. Anyway, it's a healthy situation when a league can come up with a tight pennant scramble. In the minor leagues it means the clubs have guessed accurately the proper classification of the players they have signed.

A special game in aid of the "Save the Children Fund" will be played on the greens of the Canadian Pacific Lawn Bowling Club Saturday. Matches will be played at 2 and 7. All visiting bowlers are cordially invited to participate.

Bob Garbold Stars As Seattle Winner; Portland Beaten

Portland's Beavers, doing an Alphonse-Gaston act with the Seattle Rainiers in alternately winning and losing, are back down to a three and a half game Coast League lead after a 3 to 0 loss to Sacramento last night, their second in three tilts.

Seattle made it two out of three over San Diego's Padres with a 7 to 2 victory.

The California clubs trade locations in the northwest for the remaining four games of the split week.

San Francisco's Bob Joyce, leading pitcher of the circuit, notched his 15th win of the season as the Seals took their third straight from the Hollywood Stars 6 to 0 and moved into third place. Oakland A's slid to fourth, half a game behind the O'Douls in losing to Los Angeles 10 to 2.

The Rainiers' Carl Fischer tossed six-hit ball in registering his victory over the Padres. Second baseman Bob Garbold of Seattle stole the show in driving in four runs on his two hits of the evening, one of them a triple. To top off his performance, Garbold stole home with the last tally of a four-run assault in the second inning.

San Diego Padres 10, Seattle Rainiers 2. R. H. E. Batters—Petersen, Munro (8) and Hallinger, Fisher and Finley. San Francisco Seals 6, Hollywood Stars 0. Batters—Munich, Legault (5) and Hill, Joyce and Sprink. Sacramento 3, Portland 0. Batters—Beasley and Adams, Schuler (5); Heller and Macdonald. Oakland 10, Los Angeles 2. Batters—Hayes and W. Raymond, Culler and Greese.

Ball Clubs Appear In Three Fixtures

City league ball clubs will play three games, tonight and tomorrow. Week-end schedule follows:

TONIGHT 6:30—R.C.A.F. vs. Eagles.

TOMORROW 2:30—R.C.A.F. vs. V.M.D.

6:30—Navy vs. Army.

Feature game of the card will be the clash between the Flyers and league-leading V.M.D. in two engagements to date the V.M.D. have registered a pair of triumphs. Should the Flyers win over the Eagles tonight and succeed in stopping the sluggarders they would be right back in the race for the number one position.

Tonight's game will see Arnold Ellis take up the pitching duties for the Eagles with either Sutton or McDonald working for the airmen.

Hank Greenberg To Rejoin Tigers

DETROIT (AP)—Hank Greenberg, 34-year-old Detroit Tiger, first baseman-outfielder released from the army last week, arrived here by plane Wednesday to start his major league baseball comeback after four years in military service.

Greenberg, who hit 249 home runs, drove in 1,299 runs and batted .325 during nine previous seasons with the Tigers, planned a busy 10-day practice schedule designed, according to general manager Jack Zeller, to put him into the line-up by June 30.

Although absent from baseball for four full seasons, Hank is expected to give the meek-hitting Tigers an extra-base hit shot in the arm that many experts believe will make Detroit a "shoo-in" for American League pennant.

A BAT FOR 'IKE'—As a souvenir of his triumphant day in New York and his visit to the Polo Grounds to see the Boston Braves-Giants game, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower receives an autographed baseball bat. Bob Coleman, left, manager of the Braves, and Mel Ott, manager of the Giants, make the presentation while Mayor LaGuardia watches.

Yanks Unload on Ferriss

Hand Him Second Loss

It may be premature to hail Boston's Dave (Boo) Ferriss as another Bob Feller, but the two have at least one thing in common—both have found it difficult to beat New York Yankees.

Feller, the Van Meter (Iowa) meteor, won 106 games for a 665 percentage in six seasons, holding the edge over every other club in the league by wide margins, but he could do no better than an even 14 and 14 won and lost record against the Yankees.

In battering Ferriss from the mound for the first time in his major league career yesterday, the Yankees defeated the sensational Red Sox rookie for the second straight time, the only losses charged against him this year.

Winner of nine games, at least one from every club, Ferriss had copped his first eight before stopped by the Bronxites two weeks ago.

A terrific week-day turnout for a single game saw the Yankees score 13 runs in the fifth inning, just one short of their own record for tallies in an inning, and eventually club the Sox 14 to 4.

DETROIT WINS

Frank (Stubby) Overmire pitched and batted the first-place Detroit Tigers to a 5 to 1 victory over Cleveland. He spaced seven hits for his fifth triumph and batted in two runs. The victory enabled the Bengals to sweep the three-game series with the Indians.

Babe Zaharias In Easy Golf Triumph To Gain Semifinals

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Two favorites and a pair of comparative unknowns Thursday crashed into the semifinal round of the 16th annual women's western open golf tournament over sun-drenched Highland Golf and Country Club.

The quarter-final session was dominated by defending champion Mildred (Babe) Didrikson Zaharias of Los Angeles, who defeated veteran Dorothy Kirby, of Atlanta, 4 and 3, in an upper bracket feature, and Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia, who eliminated professional Betty Hicks of Chicago, 5 and 3 in the lower bracket.

Mrs. Zaharias, the meet co-medalist, today met Mrs. Albert Becker, an unheralded swinger from Englewood, N.J., who measured Ann Casey of Maison City, Iowa, 1 up.

Miss Germain's semifinal opponent will be 19-year-old Carol (Babe) Freeze of Portland, Ore., who knocked out another Iowa quarter-finalist, Phyllis Otto of Atlantic, 3 and 2.

Unless today brings something of a rounding upset, however, Saturday's 36-hole championship showdown will be repetition of the 1944 title struggle at Park Ridge, Ill., where Mrs. Zaharias conquered Miss Germain, 7 and 5.

If those two again emerge as finalists, Miss Germain may be primed to turn the tables. The long-hitting Philadelphian has fared the past two rounds of competition—her par of 63 for 15 holes against the able Miss Hicks yesterday giving her two-under-par for her last 28 holes of play.

Miss Zaharias, who toyed with Miss Kirby all of the way yesterday and had her 4 down at the turn, was two over par for her last 35 holes.

Busher Rules Solid Favorite for Derby

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Johnny (Moneybags) Longden, one of the turf's most affluent riders, should increase his income after tomorrow's $50,000 Santa Anita Derby and next Saturday's $100,000 handicap.

The 35-year-old jockey, Santa Anita's leading winner with 44 firsts and 161 mounts through Wednesday, already has amassed more than $7,500 in capturing four of six rich stakes.

Busher, the flying Louis B. Mayer filly will provide Longden the opportunity to add a juicy 10 per cent of the winner's cut tomorrow. In the handicap he'll be aboard another favorite, Mayer's Thumbs-Up.

If Longden win with these—and few experts see how he can miss—he needs only to pick up a little show money in the two remaining $30,000 stakes, the Santa Margarita and the San Juan Capistrano, to wind up with a tidy gross of $25,000 or thereabouts for the 40-day meet.

Longden's worked hard to gain his present pre-eminence. He came to Canada with his parents when only two years of age from his native Wakefield, England.

The star rider grew up in Taber, Alberta, and worked in a coal mine there until 1927, when he began riding on the western Canada circuit.

LEADING RIDER IN 1938

In 1938 he won jockey honors in the United States with 236 winners in 1,150 mounts.

However, the odds are against Busher.

Only two favorites—He Did in 1936 and Porter's Cap in 1941—have won previous Anita derbies.

Only one filly—Clencia in 1939—has ever triumphed.

However, supporters of the Mayer filly argue, there never has been a gal with Busher's class in the derby. They think she may even go as far as to duplicate the unique double scored by Stagehand in 1938—victory in both the derby and the $100,000 handicap a week later.

Stagehand's time for the 1 1/4-mile derby route—1:50.35—may be surpassed on a lightning fast track. The event is being run four months later than usual.

The derby attendance mark of 55,000, also set in 1938, is in danger, but the 1937 high for money distribution—$65,925—won't be threatened.

Sheet Metal, Aces Win

Battle for the second and third slots in the senior B men's fast ball league was really keen today after a pair of games Thursday night. Pacific Sheet Metal gained across three runs in the first inning. Aces triumphed over K.V.'s. Aspinwall hurled three-hit ball for the suburbanites while R. Benn contributed a home run.

Continuing to hit the ball hard, Foster's gained a four-run lead on Victoria Box in the first inning and were never headed. Fifteen-year-old Helen Pettigrew marked up her ninth pitching triumph for Foster's. Rita Sommer hurled for Victoria Box and with better support from her teammates could easily have come up with a win.

three-hit ball, the metal workers had no trouble turning back R.C. E.M.E., holding an 11 to 0 lead after three innings. Pushing across three runs in the first inning, Aces triumphed over K.V.'s. Aspinwall hurled three-hit ball for the suburbanites while R. Benn contributed a home run.

Charles Starrett In Violent Western

Outlaws take lead poison when Charles Starrett wears a bandit's mask to fight for law and order. In Starrett's latest Western for Columbia Pictures "Rough Ridin' Justice," which opened today at the Rio Theatre, he portrays a special investigator assigned by a large ranchers' association to break up a powerful gang of rustlers. This he accomplishes in short time with his customary two-fisted efficiency and blazing 45's.

Walter Dub Taylor in his popular characterization of "Canonball" assists Starrett. Betty Jane Graham, ex-model who won a movie contract as a result of her work in Columbia's "Cover Girl," is very pleasing in her first featured role. Jimmy Wakely with His Oklahoma Cowboys enlivens the proceedings with many songs of the old west.

ATLAS THEATRE

Hoagy "Stardust" Carmichael makes his debut as a featured screen actor by playing the real-life role of an American composer in Warner's "To Have and Have Not," a Howard Hawks production, starring Humphrey Bogart, currently at the Atlas Theatre.

As part of his characterization, Carmichael sings excerpts from several of his best-known hits of the past.

Every time Marjorie Rambeau has started a new picture in the past few years, it has been hailed as a "comeback for Marjorie." This is not at all true, because before one can make a comeback, one usually has to be off the screen a long time and that is something Miss Rambeau has never experienced.

But all sane actresses realize too many pictures are just that, and Marjorie Rambeau has been spacing her pictures farther apart. Right now she has a featured role in Walter Wagner's Technicolor production, "Salome, Where She Danced," which is now at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres.

Andy Devine, who plays his first straight dramatic role as a priest in Universal's "Bowery to Broadway," now at the Cadet Theatre, was nicknamed Father Devine by Jack Oakie, who is co-starred in the film with Maria Montez, Susanna Foster and Turhan Bey.

Cecil Solly Says:

"Thinning Essential to Vegetables"

THINNING of young plants is not only essential for all gardens, but can be made into a profitable addition to the early summer table. When the seedlings come through the ground and have formed their second, true leaves, check over the rows and be sure that no plant is crowded. If you were careful when sowing the seeds and did not put them too thick, the thinning will not be too difficult. Every gardener dislikes pulling up and throwing away plants that he has grown successfully, but it is absolutely essential for all gardens.

DOMINION THEATRE

George Brent, a fugitive when he arrived in the United States, took part in the Irish Rebellion of 1924 as a dispatch rider for the late Michael Collins. Brent was pursued to Scotland and thence to England where he managed to board a freighter bound for this country. He is currently starring with Hedy Lamarr and Paul Lukas in R.K.O. Radio's mystery drama, "Experiment Perilous," now at the Dominion Theatre.

Considerable damage was done to the roof of the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Wells, 1914 Lullie Street, Friday night when fire broke out, Oak Bay fire department reports. The blaze, which is believed to have been started by the chimney, took 45 minutes to put out.

In the list of Benchers elected by the British Columbia Law Society to serve for the 1945-47 term the name of W. H. M. Haldane was omitted by mistake.

Thinning is best done gradually, and is most useful that way, too, for many of the thinnings may be used as greens, or salads. With the exception of beets and carrots, the first thinning should leave the tiny plants one inch apart. Then as the plants grow a little more, further thinnings may be done and the plants will be large enough to use for the table.

Often times disease or pests will attack a part of a row before controlled and thinnings may be used as "transplants," or perhaps the seed will fail to come through in places and the thinnings can be used to "fill in."

TRANSPLANT THINNINGS

Before you "space" the vegetables in any row, look around the garden to see if there is any odd space where you could transplant the best of the thinnings. It is amazing what good success has been reported by our readers who tried this stunt last year. A full garden will well compensate any added work this year, I assure you.

Not until carrots are about finger size do they need thinning. This is the time when they are most delicious, and a few jars of these tiny carrots will be a real luxury to a "company" table next winter. Be sure you thin the carrots at the right time, for if left too long they will intertwine with their neighbor and spoil many plants. After thinning, the carrot-worm preventive should be put out "fresh and potent," because the odor of the foliage pressed with your hands when thinning will attract the fly. When the roots of the beets start to swell and their tops have grown large enough to make beet greens, they will be ready for the first thinning. Their greens are one of the most distinctive and deliciously flavored, and are high in vitamin content. Beets should be thinned often, for they soon suffer from overcrowding. To lose part or all of a well-started crop of vegetables because of two little thinnings is both unnecessary and unwise.

Lettuce can be used in salads when the leaves are about two inches across. Taking out every other plant at intervals until the plants are about six inches apart is a good system. Of the leaf and cos varieties, the centre leaves are the most delicately flavored and more crisp and tender.

CHOOSE WET SOIL

When the soil is damp is the best thinning time. Don't try to thin or weed when the soil is dry and crusty, because the plants will either break off at the surface or pull up a clod of soil and several plants at a time, disturbing the roots of many and checking the growth.

Neither should the soil be very muddy or sticky from too much water when you weed or thin, because tramping when excessively wet will pack the soil very badly. Thus, the best time to thin is in the morning when the ground is damp with dew, or after light irrigation.

Picking the strawberries calls for some timely advice from Dr. John C. Snyder of the State College at Pullman. He particularly emphasizes handling the strawberries carefully. Bruising of the fruit destroys the vitamin C content, in which they are so rich. A half cup of fresh strawberries will just about supply the daily required vitamin C for a person.

If you are planning to use the berries right away it is not necessary to pick them with the stems. However, to keep the best the stems should be attached. Handle the boxes carefully as you pick, so unpicked fruit, nor the plant, is injured from mashing. After picking, keep the fruit as cool as possible, for it spoils much faster at high temperatures.

GREEN WORM

There are a couple of troubles to watch for during this time of year. Many gardeners are complaining about a green worm that is eating the strawberry leaves. The best way to get rid of it is to dust the leaves with a dust containing rotenone-sulphur-copper. You will probably have one of these for your vegetable garden.

The other trouble is the strawberry weevil, which this time of year, is in the form of a hard-shelled, grey-black beetle with six legs and a long snout. He travels extensively, and is often found in the house or garage, on ceilings and walls. They eat round holes in the leaves. During the winter it is a fat white grub, much like a plump cutworm, curled around the roots.

Cure and preventions for this time of year is to spread a good bait between the rows, and especially under the plants' leaves. Whenever you find one, be sure to kill it. This will prevent the egg-laying and considerably lessens next season's infestation.

About the runners that come on some strawberry plants. They can either be taken off or not, owing to your own plans. If you wish some new plants, keep only the nearest rooted runner to the mother plant. Cut off all the others.

If you do not wish any more plants for additional rows or a new "patch," cut off all the runners, allowing all the energy of the plant to go into larger berries this season.

Hart May Not Go East Before Conference
Premier John Hart may postpone his trip to Ottawa which he planned to make directly following the Dominion election until he goes east to attend the preliminary session of the Dominion provincial conference August 6. On his proposed trip he intended to discuss among other questions disposal of the provincially-owned P.G.E. railway and plans for its extension into the Peace River country, thereby giving that area a rail link with the Pacific coast. Because of the large amount of preparatory work necessary before attending the conference he may have to postpone his projected trip and combine the two trips into one. The Premier approves of the plan of a preliminary session of the meeting of the nine provincial

New Hospital Buildings Ready for Use By Fall

Forecast that the new maternity wing would open in November and that the new observation building for psychiatric cases would be in operation this autumn, was made by Dr. T. W. Walker, superintendent of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, in his report to the 55th annual meeting of the hospital, held this afternoon at the Nurses' Home. With occupancy ranging from 90 to 106 per cent during the year, the hospital did not refuse a single acute case, Dr. Walker said, adding there had been a waiting list for beds in all departments. Operating theatres, special solutions room, radiological department and laboratory have been working at capacity, he said.

INCREASED COSTS
"Owing to increased costs of operation in 1944, revenue fell below expenditure, including depreciation on buildings and equipment, to the extent of $38,329, as compared with a deficit of $13,291 for 1943, and the trend of costs continues to be unfavorable," E. E. Henderson, hospital treasurer, said in his report.

The hospital has ample resources for the present to meet its ordinary obligations, but certain capital commitments unprovided for at this date total $70,557, Mr. Henderson said. There was, he said, a balance of maternity building contracts not covered by subscriptions totaling $78,370.

Number of patients admitted to hospital in 1944 was 8,488, compared with 8,099 in 1943, Dr. Walker said in his report. Hospital days treatment numbered 128,948 for 1944, as compared with 125,855 in 1943. Number of live births in 1944 was 1,146, while the number for 1943 was 1,046.

TRAINING OF NURSES
"It is time that the training of nurses was recognized as a part of the country's educational system and that hospitals with training schools received some financial assistance in carrying on this work," Dr. Walker said as he spoke of the short supply of nurses and the increased volume of work.

"It costs the hospital $2,600 to graduate one student nurse. It is true that we receive some return in service from the student in training but this is far less than our costs—more than half of the time of student nurses is spent in the classroom." Several new procedures adopted throughout the year by the board of directors did much to strengthen the bond between the administration and employees, Dr. Walker said, mentioning in particular the annual checkup by a physician appointed and paid by the board.

VETERANS' HOSPITAL
E. W. McMullen, president, in his report referred to the construction of a Veterans' Hospital and said it would be "a handsome building providing 200 beds, surgical and treatment rooms and all necessary hospital accessories, together with ample space for gardens and exercise grounds."

"Revenue for the year 1944 showed an increase of 15 per cent over that of 1943 while operating expenditure rose 22 per cent," Charles Morrison, business manager, said in his report.

"A high rate of labor turnover in the housekeeping and dietary departments, as well as among graduate nurses, contributed markedly to the increase in costs and remains a serious problem."

Higher labor costs, increased expense of supplies, notably medical and surgical goods, fuel

Wilgress Foresees Success for World Security Conference

HON. L. DANA WILGRESS

Faith in the success of the outcome of the San Francisco World Security Congress was expressed by Hon. L. Dana Wilgress, Canadian ambassador to Russia, in Victoria today to address the Canadian Club on "Canada and the Soviet Union."

In an interview he discounted talk of a break-up of friendly relations between the Soviet Union and the other members of the Big Three, pointing out that the Soviet had proved conclusively her desire and intention to co-operate sincerely in the world security organization for lasting peace.

"The new organization has lots of experience on which to call, and will be able to avoid the faults and pitfalls of the old League of Nations," he said. "Our new organization will be built on the idealism of the League of Nations, but with the realism dictated by experience of the last 25 years."

The ambassador had little comment to make on the troubled Polish situation but expressed confidence in its speedy and peaceful settlement, as representatives of the Big Three are meeting in Moscow at the present time to draw up plans as outlined by the Yalta Conference for a Polish government that would be acceptable to all.

Flower Show Roses Best in Years

Roses, in all their variegated sizes and exotic hues predominate among the more than 300 entries in the 70 classes of the Victoria Horticultural Society June flower show, being held today and Saturday in the lower ballroom of the Crystal Garden.

There are 50 per cent more entries this year than last and show officials state the roses and other seasonal flowers, including sweet peas and poppies, are the best the June show has had since before the war. There are several varieties of imported California roses shown. Restrictions on importation of plant material from the U.S. previously enforced, has now been lifted and showings of these more imported roses in the display of Fred Taylor, Victoria, are drawing attention of flower enthusiasts.

Commercial displays include those of the Layritz Nurseries Ltd., showing cut roses, peonies and flowering shrubs which fill the whole end of the ballroom; Prospect Lake Nurseries displaying peonies and delphiniums, and the booth of W. Goddard, Colquhoun, with a rare assortment of cacti and succulents.

Main rose entry is the hybrid tea and its variations. Judges: David Reid, rose specialist; G. Robinson, seed grower, Elk Lake; Fred Saunders, Empress Hotel head gardener; W. S. Duff, and E. W. White of the Department of Agriculture, compiled points of class entries this afternoon and results will be learned tomorrow.

Flower lovers gathered this afternoon at the show, declared the entries were superior to any displayed at similar affairs for some time. Several hundred persons passed along the tabled displays in the course of the afternoon.

Prizes consisting of cash, trophies and diplomas will be awarded when results of the judging are arrived at, and tomorrow evening at 9.15 when the show closes, entries will be sold.

Believing playing cards are needed more than ever by the troops as a means of relieving boredom, Herbert J. Greatrex is making another appeal for used playing cards to be left at the Daily Times office for him to send overseas.

Samuel Blair, 2281 Florence Street, reported to city police today someone had stolen a tool box overnight containing an assortment of tools weighing 300 pounds from a vacant lot on Fort Street, between Vancouver and Quadra Streets. The box and tools are the property of the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd.

Pepler Would Foster Healthy Canadianism

"Canadian Clubs should foster a healthy Canadianism," said Col. Eric Pepler, K.C., newly-elected president of the Victoria Canadian Club, in his inaugural address at the club's 37th annual meeting Thursday night.

Naturalization of foreigners should not be conducted in the present "hole-in-the-corner way," Col. Pepler said, but should partake of ceremony as it did in the United States. Secondly, "most of us are agreed that Canada is going to have a flag," he said. "I hope that the Union Jack will form a large portion of it." Turning to the National Anthem, he said, "we should all agree on one proper version of O Canada."

AMALGAMATION

Forrest L. Shaw, B.C. Power Commissioner, chief speaker of the evening, whose address, "Amalgamation—Why?" will be broadcast over CJVI Saturday night at 9, said that in less than four miles by seven miles there was a population of 80,000 separated into four municipalities of Victoria, Esquimalt, Oak Bay and Saanich. "If we had an area of unorganized territory of that size and with that population, would anyone feel that the way to insure the most efficient municipal services at the least cost would be assured by breaking it up into four distinct municipalities?"

Dealing with the history of the separate municipal governments, Mr. Shaw said "it more or less grew up." Exempted government and charitable property benefited residents in all municipalities, though its burden was borne by those in which they were actually situated, he said. Citing the case of schools near municipal boundaries, Mr. Shaw said: "We welcome children from whole areas to play in Beacon Hill Park, but deny them education. Germs are not respecters of boundaries," he said.

Reserve Army Camp Will Start July 1

Training period for reserve army units will start July 1. The 3rd Battalion, C.S.R., will go to the Nanaimo camp first for two weeks' training. Detachments from up-island centres will join those of Greater Victoria at camp.

It was previously stated in error the camp would start July 18.

Margaret Jenkins Pupils Graduate

Dinner and graduation exercises were held Thursday night for grade 8 pupils of Margaret Jenkins school. Miss Patricia Garrard was chairman and the graduating class was presented to parents and visitors by school principal W. H. Muncey.

Austin I. Curtis, chairman of the school board, presented Miss Joan Hodge with the Margaret Jenkins award for general proficiency following brief remarks to the graduating class.

Robert Rowe received the Popularity Cup from H. Campbell, municipal inspector of schools, and gave a summary of the school's sports activities of the year. Robert received also the Boys' Sports Cup from Trustee F. Mulliner. Miss Hodge received the Girls' Sports Cup from Mrs. H. Campbell.

Proficiency prizes were awarded to Larry Wright, Denis Dowman and Patsy Garrard, while Dorothy Price received the Canadian history award. Following student presentations of reports on curricular activities of the past term, valedictories were delivered by Miss Hodge. Mrs. Arthur Unwin, president of the P.T.A., wished the class congratulations and the best of luck.

4,520 Attending B.C. Night Schools

War has stimulated interest in adult education in B.C. so that enrolment in night schools was 4,520, according to statistics published in the latest annual public schools reports.

In addition to this total 14,612 persons were enrolled in classes conducted under the Dominion Provincial Youth Training and War Emergency Training Programs, 91 were enrolled in vocational classes not supported by Dominion Government grants. 729 were enrolled in the Vancouver School of Art, 227 in the Vancouver School of Navigation, 1,432 adults were taking high school correspondence and 179 elementary school correspondence, and 14,053 were attending recreational and physical education classes.

New Aussie Landing

MANILA (AP)—A Southwest Pacific Allied Command headquarters communique today announced a new Australian landing on west Borneo by troops of the famed 9th Division, thus putting invaders both north and south of the prized Seria oil fields.

Probably the final battle of importance in the Luzon campaign in the Philippines was being fought on Japanese troops in the Cagayan Valley today by Filipino guerrillas blocking the enemy's path of retreat from U.S. infantry advancing northwards down the valley.

Meanwhile it was disclosed that the final phase of the Okinawa battle was marked with Japanese surrenders in unprecedented numbers. Today U.S. troops on the island just 325 miles from the Japanese home islands were cleaning up the two remaining pockets of enemy troops.

More War Atrocities Listed By Yugoslavs 'Freeze Imagination'

LONDON (AP)—Marshal Tito's Yugoslav government charged formally Thursday that young Yugoslav girls, men and women were stripped and then driven with hands bound to their places of execution by Axis war criminals.

A 26-page report by Dr. Radomir Zivkovic, Yugoslav representative on the United Nations War Crimes Commission, said Yugoslavia had finished investigations of 10,000 "Fascist crimes." Between 200 and 300 names are being added daily to the war criminals

Ontario Becomes Canadian Navy Queen At Colorful Commissioning Ceremony

OTTAWA—Most modern cruiser serving in any of the Commonwealth navies, H.M.C.S. Ontario, recently commissioned at Belfast, has now undergone her trials successfully, Navy Minister Douglas C. Abbott announced today.

Canada's second cruiser, queen of the Canadian naval fleet, has measured up to expectations, the minister added. She has done everything asked of her and shortly will take her place at the head of Canada's navy in the Pacific.

The cold greyness of the Irish morning failed to lessen enthusiasm of the commissioning as thousands of sailors, dockyard officials and guests thronged Ontario's decks, gun turrets and superstructure, while ashore more thousands of cloth-capped dockyard maties, who had helped build her, along with a sprinkling of Canadian Wrens, lined the jetty to hear the broadcast ceremony.

A colossus of majestic beauty, ready to meet the worst the Japanese can offer, Ontario lay with her guns pointing straight ahead, glaring despite the drab weather. Her decks shone in their cleanliness. She was decked out in wartime grey paint and the polish of her brass accentuated the make-up.

DUNCAN OFFICER PLEASED

Cmdr. Ernest Patrick Tisdall of Duncan, B.C., Ontario's executive officer and make-up artist, rubbed his hands as he completed his final check-up.

Lined up on the quarter deck, facing the after triple six-inch turret were the principal guests, among them Right Hon. Vincent Massey, High Commissioner for Canada in the United Kingdom; Sir Basil Brooke, Prime Minister of Northern Ireland; Maj. James Armstrong, agent general for Ontario; Rear Admiral R. H. L. Bevan, C.B., D.S.O., M.V.O., flag officer in command of Northern Ireland; Rear Admiral H. E. Morse, D.S.O., Admiralty superintendent of contract built ships, under whose supervision the cruiser was constructed; Capt. F. L. Houghton, head of the Canadian naval mission overseas, formerly of Victoria, B.C.; Sir Frederick Rebeck, managing director of Harland and Wolff's; Engineer Rear Admiral S. W. Cooke, and J. Morrison, general manager of the shipyard.

The ship's company stretched from the quarterdeck, along port and starboard to midships, while the guard of honor commanded by Cmdr. Tisdall, and the ship's band took their positions under the muzzles of the after six-inch guns.

CAPTAIN SPEAKS FIRST

True to the tradition of the service, Capt. H. T. W. Grant, captain of the ship, was first to address the ship's company. After introducing the guests, he said: "Today, in commissioning H.M.C.S. Ontario, which I have the honor to command, you will have an opportunity of writing a line in Canadian and empire history. May it be worthy of those who have sailed before us under the White Ensign."

Said Mr. Massey: "The story of the amazing growth of the Royal Canadian Navy in this war does not need to be told. The facts are long since well known to our friends, and the results have been made familiar to the enemy. We can take honest pride in this Canadian achievement. Naval men are known to be good mathematicians, but the Royal Canadian Navy has achieved a miracle in multiplication, for today it is 50 times its strength before the war."

"The navy has often been called a silent service, and so it is. We hear too little about it. But it is also very nearly an invisible service, as your jobs carry you so far away. But if you are often out of sight, you are never out of mind. We know the magnificent job which our naval service has done, and is doing for the great cause we have at heart."

"H.M.C.S. Ontario is the eloquent symbol of the determination of the people of Canada to fight this war along with our Allies in all the seven seas until the very end. This ship now becomes, of course, the queen of the Canadian navy. She is the newest cruiser in the navies of the United Nations, and in many respects she is one of the most modern. You have in her a vessel in which you can feel full confidence and of which you can be rightfully proud."

Sto. PO. Robert Travis of Victoria serves in H.M.C.S. Ontario. Here he finds himself in charge of a pile of hammocks on the jetty just prior to his ship's commissioning.

Rear-Admiral Morse, whose task it was to inspect the cruiser from stem to stern prior to the commissioning, had earlier declared her worthy of being "bought," the term "bought" being the service expression for Admiralty acceptance.

From a small beginning in six years the R.C.N. has expanded into great flotillas of destroyers, frigates, corvettes, escort vessels of all sorts and minesweepers, said Admiral Morse.

"This ship probably looks a bit bigger than the ones you had before, but literally the destroyer is so large that she is a small cruiser, he told the crew. Although this ship is full of a lot of new gadgets, you will very soon master them and find that you merely have got better and more powerful weapons of the sort you will understand to use against the enemy. This ship has

Formerly at Naden, Capt. H. T. W. Grant Commands Cruiser

BELFAST—With a wealth of experience in cruisers behind him, Capt. Harold T. W. Grant, D.S.O., was the logical choice to take command of Canada's newest cruiser, H.M.C.S. Ontario.

The grey-haired Halifaxian, whose exploits in the Bay of Biscay early last year, while in command of the R.N. cruiser Enterprise, won him the Distinguished Service Order, will in all probability be recognized as the senior Canadian officer of the 60-ship fleet which will be Canada's contribution to the war in the Pacific.

(Capt. Grant is a brother of Capt. J. M. Grant, commanding officer of Canadian Naval College at Royal Roads. The Ontario's commander years ago when Admiral Percy W. Nelles was N.O.L.C. at Esquimalt, was executive officer of H.M.C.S. Naden. During the visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth to Canada in 1939, Capt. Grant commanded H.M.C.S. Skeena which carried the royal party to Prince Edward Island.)

Included in the Canadian Pacific fleet will be H.M.C.S. Uganda, two aircraft carriers now in process of construction, the anti-aircraft cruiser H.M.C.S. Prince Robert, and destroyers and frigates.

Capt. Grant went to the Royal Navy on loan in the summer of 1943. He was almost immediately given command of the ageing cruiser Enterprise and what he did with that ship won him the admiration of the Allied nations.

WOUNDED IN BATTLE

Not counting cuts, he drove Enterprise, which was in company of another cruiser, H.M.S. Glasgow, into the Bay of Biscay, engaged 11 German destroyers, sank three, damaged others to the extent that surviving destroyers fled to a French port. Capt. Grant was wounded in this engagement.

At that time Enterprise was about ready for the scrap heap, but Admiralty, realizing she had a lot of life left in her, sent her back to sea with Capt. Grant, now recovered, still in command.

The Canadian captain figured in his next exploit, 19 days after D-Day, winning the U.S. Bronze Star Medal. The citation reads: "For meritorious service as commanding officer of H.M.S. Enterprise, in action against enemy installations at Cherbourg, France, on June 25, 1944. Gallantly directing his ship in defiance of close and intense large calibre enemy fire, Capt. Grant attacked German shore batteries with aggressive determination, delivering accurate and

Education Costs British Columbians 7c Each Per Day

Education costs in British Columbia have risen to the point where if the cost were distributed equally every resident of the province would have to contribute 7 cents every school day.

The per capita cost per year is $12.82. The per capita provincial government cost per year is $3.94, and the per capita provincial government cost per school day is 2 cents.

These statistics were worked out by the department and were given today in the 73rd public schools annual report.

Total enrolment in B.C. schools was 119,043, the report said, an increase from 115,447 the year before. Average daily attendance had increased from 93,473 to 102,999.

The report showed 19,323 students enrolled in high schools, 3,688 in superior schools, 15,998 in junior high schools and 80,034 in elementary schools.

In addition there were 1,451 students enrolled in high school correspondence courses and 1,584 in elementary correspondence school classes.

While in 1932 total expenditure for public schools in the province was $215,056, last year this figure had swollen to $12,231,029. Education cost $96.90 per pupil for the year on total enrolment, or 51 cents per pupil per school day.

Teaching students last year were 4,162 teachers. The average yearly salary paid was $1,632 in all public schools. Average yearly salary paid teachers in all high schools was $2,261, while average wage paid elementary school teachers was $1,241.

Dr. Ewing Addresses Lions Club Luncheon

Speaking in a light vein in Spencer's dining-room Thursday to a joint luncheon meeting of the Victoria Lions Club and the women's auxiliary of the club, Dr. John M. Ewing, principal of Victoria College, listed seven points to show that excessive virtues often tended to make people dreary companions.

Stating that the first was perfection, Dr. Ewing said that the man who did not make mistakes was not quite human and that the man who knew everything was intolerable. He then went on to criticize self-sacrifice and the virtues acquired only by necessity, ending with a condemnation of extreme punctuality and tidiness.

Mrs. Hillis Marr introduced the speaker and Mrs. W. A. Trenholme thanked him. Wives of Lions were hosts to club members so Mrs. Ernest Emery presided.

Paratrooper Due

L.Cpl. Terry Butler, 21, paratrooper, overseas a year-and-a-half, arrived Thursday in Halifax and is expected here soon by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Butler, 633 Nelson Street. Educated at Victoria High School and Victoria College.

Coal-Output Down 42,000 Tons in May

B.C.'s coal production last month dropped over 42,000 tons behind May, 1944, and 13,000 tons below that of April of this year; the monthly output totals released today by the chief inspector of mines showed.

Vancouver Island district produced 41,778 tons, compared with 38,390 in May, 1944. Of the 12 mines producing on the island, Comox Colliery with an output of 21,367, against 27,144 in May, 1944, was the largest producer, followed by No. 10 Mine, South Wellington, which last month produced 15,986 tons, compared with 20,275 in May, 1944.

Nicola-Princeton district produced 4,951 tons last month, compared with 6,423 in April, 1944, while the northern district's output was 2,841, compared with 2,561 a year ago.

East Kootenay district continued in top place producing 118,127 tons last month against 160,367 in 1944. Most productive mine was Michel Colliery which last month mined 47,833 tons. Coke produced at Michel totaled 7,065 tons.

Chinese Paintings On Exhibition At Spencer's

Combining all the delicacy associated with Chinese art and an underlying strength, paintings by the late Kao Weng and his adopted daughter, Chang K'Un-I, went on display in Spencer's art gallery Thursday afternoon.

In opening the exhibition, which will continue until June 30, Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.L.A., said the Chinese had a definite art in the age when the people of the British Isles "were still painting themselves with woad." She had special praise for the work of the two artists referring to a "sincerity and delicate perception in their paintings."

Mrs. Hodges traced the career of Miss Chang, who had nursed with the Chinese army until the fall of Nanking.

It was after that, she said, that Madame Ching Kai-shek had persuaded her to leave China and come to America as an ambassador of good will and of Chinese culture.

Hon. Mark Kearley of the Vancouver Island region of the Federation of Canadian Artists, sponsors of the exhibit, introduced Mrs. Hodges and pointed out that she had headed the committee to select paintings from the Emily Carr collection for British Columbia.

Many of the paintings in the collection, which has been acclaimed in New York and throughout Canada, are symbolic, while others depict Chinese legends. Of the former, "Roaring China," in the form of a lion's head, is especially outstanding. It was painted by Kao Weng to arouse the Chinese when the Japs first invaded Manchuria. Also arresting is Miss Chang's "Long Growl," showing a tiger and representing a call to her people to unite in a common purpose.

"Moonlight," by Kao Weng, with its luminous silver tones shows a quality of atmosphere evident in all his work. "Re-

Killed in Action

Second Lieut. O. H. Lord, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Lord, Yonbou, was killed in action June 9 during operations in the Pacific with the U.S.A.F. Born in Los Angeles in 1925, he came to Victoria with his parents in 1928 and received his education at Tolmie School and Mount View High School from which he graduated. He played Canadian football for St. Louis College. He was pilot on a Mitchell bomber.

Arena To Be Fireproof

Plans for the Memorial Arena are progressing, Ald. F. A. Willis, chairman of the city arena committee, reported after a meeting Thursday afternoon where the question of the materials for the building, among other things, was discussed.

Ald. Willis said he was quite satisfied with the rate of progress being made in the plans, and gave assurance that no matter what the final decision as to building materials, the building would be completely fireproof.

"Laxation," by the same artist, catches the mood of the title as it shows a reclining figure contrasted against the stark simplicity of leafless trees.

Paintings which tell the story of ancient Chinese legends include "Hero in the Woods" and "Elephant's Trunk Mountain."

Oldest Soldier In Canadian Army Stationed Here

Canada's oldest soldier on active service is right here in Victoria at Work Point Barracks. Cpl. Henry McDonald, 70, veteran of four wars, is to be found in the supply office of the R.C.A. S.C., where he has been since 1943, when he transferred from the Veterans Guard.

Born in London, Eng., he saw service on India's frontiers with the Royal Scots Fusiliers in 1895. He was with the same regiment during the Boer war, and in the 1914-18 conflict, served at the front with the Royal Garrison Artillery.

He resides with his wife at 35 Lewis Street, James Bay. A son in Australia, a veteran of this war, was wounded in action with an Australian unit, and has since been discharged.

Queried as to discharge from the army, Cpl. McDonald said: "Yes, I expect it when the war with the Japs is finished."

Known to all the boys of the barracks as "Pop," McDonald wears six ribbons. He is as solidly as ever. Before enlisting in the present war he was RSM, in the Corps of Commissionaires in Victoria.

Jelly-roll, great favorite of the younger fry, is a fine thing to make when butter is low. Calls for no shortening of any kind. But... you need the benefit of Swans Down's tender gluten for butterless cakes like this one.

Old-Fashioned Jelly-Roll

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon Columbat Baking Powder
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt
4 eggs, unbeaten
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sifted sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup jelly (any flavor)

Sift flour once; measure. Combine baking powder, salt and eggs in bowl. Place over a smaller bowl of hot water, and beat with rotary beater, adding sugar gradually until mixture becomes thick and light-colored. Remove bowl from hot water. Fold in flour and vanilla. Turn at once into shallow pan, 15 x 10 inches, which has been greased, lined with paper to within $\frac{1}{2}$ inch of edge, then again greased. Bake in hot oven (400° F.) just until set, about 13 minutes. Quickly trim off crisp edges of cake and turn out on cloth covered with sifted icing sugar; remove paper. Spread with jelly, roll quickly, and wrap in the cloth. Cool on rack.

Just 4 Tablespoons Shortening
These flavorful little cup-cakes are the tender, feather-light kind that men and children love. Here, Swans Down's fineness and evenness achieve melting, delicious goodness with no butter, and only a trifle of shortening.

Rumor Hitler Hid in Hamburg; Saw Ribbentrop

HAMBURG (AP)—Rumors that Hitler is in the Hamburg area and talk of his possible capture within the city itself are increasing among German civilians since Joachim Ribbentrop was picked up here.

Residents to whom one correspondent talked in Germany's second largest city, where many other Nazi bigwigs have been arrested, do not believe the story of Hitler's death in Berlin.

British security officers still are investigating the Ribbentrop case. He may have had his seven weeks' stay in an apartment house room which he presumably rented from an attractive 35-year-old blonde divorcee.

The divorcee insists the only caller on Ribbentrop that she saw was a "tall, slender man with black hair."

However, she admits her roomer may have had many visitors when she was absent.

"He always asked me the exact time I would return when I left," he said.

Milan Crowds Slay Fascists in Prison

MILAN (AP)—Crowds asking bread and work and a more severe purge of Fascists paraded before Allied Military Government offices Thursday as it was learned that anti-Fascists had broken into two northern Italian jails and machine-gunned imprisoned Fascists.

Thirty-five Fascists, many of them in jails at Ferrara and Modena, have been slain. Another 28 have been wounded, some of them fatally. The Modena shootings were first reported Tuesday.

French Get Use Of 63,000 Nazis

PARIS (AP)—Communications zone headquarters announced today that 63,000 German prisoners of war would be turned over to the French by the United States Army in the Rhine area, June 25. The Army eventually will transfer 230,000 prisoners to the French for use in rebuilding towns and roads.

Craigflower Residents Hear Talk On Balloons

Craigflower residents, attending a social given by the Craigflower Civil Defence in Craigflower school Friday evening, were warned to report anything they saw they thought to be a Japanese bomb balloon. They were assured anti-aircrafts were eager to check up on any possibilities rather than have one explode and injure anyone.

Pieces of the balloon fabric were shown to the guests. It is a five-ply, water-resistant rice paper which has exceptional tensile strength.

MEN WORE RUFFS DURING TIME OF QUEEN ELIZABETH

Every day we see men wearing collars and ties. Usually the collar is "soft" or "semi-soft" and the tie is almost always of the kind known as a "four-in-hand."

If we did not have pictures from the past to look at, we might suppose that men always have worn such neckwear. The fact, however, is that there have been many changes with the passing of the centuries. In my own lifetime I have seen the change from the heavily starched, stiff collar to the softer kind now common. I remember struggles with "collar" buttons, which objects seldom appear today except when men put on stiff collars to go with dress suits.

In the days of Queen Elizabeth, men of fashion did not wear collars or ties of the modern kind. Instead of collars they often put "ruffs" around their necks.

Collar and tie fashions of men and women. The woman at upper left is wearing a ruff.

Ruffs were collars made from stiff starched cloth, as muslin or linen. They were set in folds, so they had much open space. Sometimes they were trimmed with lace.

A ruff often stood out more than four inches from the neck. The largest ones were in fashion about the year 1582, and they gained the nickname of "cart-wheels." Ruffs of one kind or another were in favor in Great Britain after Elizabeth died, through the reigns of James I, Charles I and Charles II. Ladies, as well as gentlemen, wore these starched neckpieces. Some leaders of fashion, however, chose broad, white collars to adorn their necks.

Two hundred years ago, the ruffs had been given up, and a fashionable man was likely to wear a ribbon around his neck. This ribbon, most often black, was loosely tied in front so it dropped down over the chest. A single ribbon served as both collar and tie.

Early in the past century, men wore cravats around their necks. These were strips of silk or muslin. The ends of a cravat were tied in front of the neck. This neckcloth was high, and gained the nickname of "choker." The same nickname was given in a later period to high, stiff collars which looked as if they might choke the men who wore them.

President Wears Sweater Knitted By Island Indians

OLYMPIA, Wash. (CP)—President Truman appeared at a press conference Thursday attired in a wool Indian sweater borrowed from Governor Wallgren of Washington.

It was knitted by Indians on Vancouver Island, he explained, but as to the nature of the designs, he reminded a reporter to ask the chief of the Swashes, declaring it was a Siwash sweater.

The President went after one of those king salmon his host, Governor Wallgren, has been boasting about ever since he came to town. He caught a dog fish.

The Governor's fishing party left the port of Olympia shortly before noon aboard the U.S. fish and wild life service boat, Brant, on a combination pleasure cruise and fishing trip.

47% of Bomber Command Killed

ROUSDON, Eng. (CP)—Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur T. Harris said today that 47,000 men of the total of approximately 100,000 who passed through R.A.F. Bomber Command were killed during the war, but that this loss held down the army's casualties.

WE FLEW Without GUNS

THREE CLOSE CALLS

ENGINE trouble dogged me those last few days in February. The C-53 I had recently been assigned had developed a habit of coughing and sputtering and then one afternoon, about 75 miles out of Kunming, the oil pump shaft on the starboard engine broke. I switched off that engine, feathered the prop and brought the ship into Kunming on the good one.

The next morning the Chinese mechanic who had been working on my plane told me that the oil pump was all right, the trouble had been caused by a leaky valve cover. That was a little hard for me to believe, but I told him to warm up the engines and we would soon see if the pump was okay. The instruments indicated that it was.

An hour later when the ship was loaded and warmed up my new co-pilot, Jimmy Mar, Tsui and I took off. The fog was so thick as we went down the runway I couldn't even see the edge of the field. That in itself was nothing unusual, but the overcast was increasingly thick as we climbed. The altimeter read 14,000 feet before we got out of the clouds, and then we ran into heavy alet and strong head winds. We were in that for about 15 minutes when the starboard engine shot a geyser of oil through its cowlings and blanked out.

With that overcast running all the way down to the field I was going to have to go back on one engine and make an instrument procedural letdown!

When we were fairly near the field, I called the control tower and told them that one of my engines had conked out and to clear the field. I was coming in on the other one.

"What?" the Army man in the control tower cried. "But, Captain, you haven't any visibility at all! I can't even see the end of the runway from the tower. I can't give you clearance for a landing like that!"

I laughed—not because it was the least bit funny, but because it was absurd. "Well, brother," I said, "you just damn well better give me clearance because I'm coming in anyway. I'm no Army pilot and you aren't telling me what to do."

We were about a hundred feet off the ground and, according to my calculations, heading right into the landing strip, when the soldier in the tower in wild excitement began shouting, "You've got it! You've got it! That's it! Let her down!" I dropped the gear and we came on in. It was as smooth a landing as I have ever made.

BUT it wasn't the planes, I finally had to conclude, because only two days later I took off from Dinjan and ran into trouble again. Jimmy Mar was a pretty good boy, an American, the born Chinese, well educated and bright as a dollar. In the short time we had worked together I had come to like him just about as much as I had liked Eddie Quinn, the Chinese who preceded him. So when he asked me if he might try a take-off that morning, I said "Sure, why not?"

Jimmy took the captain's seat at the controls and I dropped into the co-pilot's seat.

Our wheels were just about to get off the ground—we were 800 yards down the runway—when the port engine started to race like wild and the ship slewed off to the left. At the same instant the gauge indicating the propeller pitch swung around to indicate only half power and oil began to pump out of it. I knew what had happened. The govern-nor controlling the propeller pitch had sheared its pin. I yelled, "I've got it!" and Jimmy let go as I grabbed the controls and shoved the right engine throttle fully forward, pushing hard right rudder at the same time to correct the swing. If there had been any runway left, I would have slipped on the brakes, but we were bearing down fast on the jungle out of which the field had been cut and our only chance was to try to complete the take-off on one engine.

We managed it, somehow, pulling off and up in a shallow climb with the right engine working for all it was worth, missing the tops of the trees around the field by scant inches as we fought to keep the fully loaded plane in the air. Once we got over that first hurdle of getting the plane up there, all we had to do was to make as short a circle to the right as we dared, and come in, still on one engine, for a landing.

When I climbed out of that baby I was shaking like a leaf. All I could think of was one thing, and as soon as I found Captain Woods, the chief pilot at Dinjan, I said it. "I've had enough, my friend. That's three close calls in less than a week. I'm takin' a vacation!"

"Woody" nodded thoughtfully, and after a moment he said, "Good idea, Gen. You've earned it. And anyway, I have six passengers for Calcutta. I'll give you a ship to fly down there and you can take these guys along with you."

You earn your money with the C.N.A.C., but you've got to admit they're generous. They would give you all the snow in Tibet if they thought you would shovel it away.

Monty Says Nazis May Be Plotting For New War Now

21ST ARMY GROUP HEADQUARTERS, Germany (AP)—Field Marshal Montgomery said Thursday that German general staff officers would be sent to camps outside the country and isolated in small groups until the Allies were convinced they would not plot to rearm the surrendered Reich.

He said in an interview that Germany would have to be watched closely during the next two or three months for any outbreak of a Nazi faction preparing for another war.

"I don't agree with people who say Germany is down and out," he said. "The country is down on its knees and needs watching."

He said there were many young German officers among the 2,000,000 to be demobilized in the British zone who were annoyed that Germany had lost the war, and wanted a chance to prepare another war.

The British commander said the Allies might have to keep German S.S. troops in prison camps for 20 years.

The Marshal said Nazism was not dead and for this reason the non-fraternization policy must be maintained. German girls between 18 and 21 who were army and air corps auxiliaries were declared to be especially anti-British.

He estimated that the army of occupation would have to remain in Germany for from six to 10 years while the military gradually gave way to civil government and economic life gradually was restored.
